ABOUT US

Since 2012, Lycas has grown as a leading electron-ics supplier. In 2014, we decided to embark on a new journey, to develop the most sensational flameless candles—Enkinddle. We created a new class of lighting, one that is made true to form and boasts exceptional performance.

We partnered up with Tecmo, a well-known power supplier, to bring Enkinddle to more retailers and hospitality establishments around the globe. Our combined expertise in design and manufacturing has redefined what authenticity means in the world of LED candles—to be radiant from every angle.

Because we understand your business needs, we provide a wide-ranging customizable service that gives you unlimited possibilities. You will quickly find us to be great partners in making your brand, client relations, corporate events, and holiday decor more memorable.

Millions of people across North America and Europe have enjoyed the true beauty of our flame-less candles. With our total product develop-ment, manufacturing, and distribution services, you have the freedom to tailor your smart lighting solution, and amplify your impact in the marketplace .

THE ENKINDLE CANDLE

Our candles feature a patent-pending 3D swing flame design that so many have already become familiar with. Unlike other flameless candles, ours is designed to be viewed from any place in the room, providing for a more authentic experience.

The founder of our company, Daniel Yuan, realized the gap between design and value in the flameless candles market in 2014. So he decided to bridge the two elements, and created the 3D swinging flame design—the most convincing LED candle the world

The natural flicker provides the allure of real candle light. And since it is not a real flame, it keeps everyone safe by removing the harms associated with traditional candles.

Your needs are unique from others, and our options ensure the room and variety you need to find the right solution. There are six collections of all-around radiant flameless candles available for you to choose from. You can personalize your order with any color, scent and image, too. We can customize it to take your brand or company identity to another level.
